

MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL

SCHOOL VALUES

Whilst at assembly yesterday I was very impressed with the Year 3/4 class and their item on RESPECT. It was a great reminder to us all of the importance of respect and how each of us can demonstrate it in many ways. It also highlighted how a school that values respect is a wonderful place to learn and grow.

So what is Respect?

A definition of respect includes

1) How you feel about someone

Having respect for someone means you think good things about who a person is or how he/she acts. You can have respect for others, and you can have respect for yourself.

2) How you treat him/her.

Showing respect to someone means you act in a way that shows you care about their feelings and well-being.

Showing respect for others include things like not calling people mean names, treating people with courtesy, caring enough about yourself that you don't do things you know can hurt you.

Some examples of Respect include;

- You admire (respect) a historical figure who stood up for what she believed in, even when it was hard.
- You are quiet in a library to show that you care about (respect) others' need to read without interruption.
- You follow your parents' rules to show them you care (respect) how they feel about the situation.
- You don't call people names because you care about (respect) their feelings.
- You don't hit or otherwise hurt people because you care about (respect) their well-being.
- You dress, speak, and act in a way that shows you care about what you know is right and safe, because you care about (respect) yourself and your well-being.
- You don't interfere with other people's right to look, think, or act differently than you because you care about (respect) their feelings and well-being.

So what is Respect?

- Respect is thinking and acting in a positive way about yourself or others.
- Respect is thinking and acting in a way that shows others you care about their feelings and their well-being.

This has also got me thinking about our other school values and just how well known they are to the school community. Sure we have them on posters on classroom walls, in our Business Plan and other documents, but do we think about them often? Do we reflect upon our own behaviour and measure it against our values?

At Gooseberry Hill Primary School, we value;

Respect - for self, others and the environment.

Diversity - Understanding we are all different and it is those differences that make our school and wider community a great place to be.

Resilience - in approaching and responding to challenges.

Integrity - in the way we hold ourselves and interact with others.

Accountability - for our actions.

Empathy - to others who require our support.

For the next two weeks I encourage everyone to be thinking about and demonstrating Respect. I look forward to having conversations about it and celebrating examples of it when I see it.

The Zig Zag Early Years Partnership presents

THE JOYS OF RAISING BOYS

With Keith Read from Ngala DadsWA

The nature / nurture debate continues on as we parent our boys and girls in the 21st century – but we cannot escape the fact that there are some differences in how boys and girls mature, to how they see the world, and what they might need from their parents.

Keith will take you through the challenges and joys of bringing up sons in our modern society. From the early years of building strong attachments, through to maintaining communication and positive role modelling.

You will gain an insight into the enormous benefits of finding the best approach to relating to boys as they grow and thrive in our community.
